Press release submitted by Home Bound Healthcare

Moline, Illinois, February 8, 2011 — Home Bound Healthcare is honoring centenarians in the community! A centenarian is someone who has reached 100 years of age or better!

Home Bound Healthcare is inviting community members to contact the Moline office to notify them of a centenarian that would enjoy being honored for this milestone. Centenarians will be honored with a cake, a bouquet, and a catered meal for the guest of honor and their family. The celebration can take place in the centenarian's home, the Home Bound Healthcare office, or at another planned location.

Those turning 100 this year, as well as those that have already reached this milestone, are eligible for this special celebration.

Sheri Maurer, Marketing Director for Home Bound Healthcare, says "It is an honor for us to celebrate the lives of centenarians in the community! We are proud to be a part of the lives of seniors on a daily basis, and this is one way we can give back to a generation that has given so much."
